Fund performance objective and benchmark

The fund's investment objective is to achieve capital growth over the long term, which should be considered as a period of 7-plus years. The fund's performance target is to outperform, after the deduction of charges, the MSCI All-Countries World Net Total Return Index USD (the "Benchmark") by 2.5% per annum over rolling three year periods. The Benchmark is being used by the Fund for performance comparison purposes only and the Fund does not intend to track it. Performance commentary

The fund outperformed its benchmark index over the quarter and remains ahead on a year-to-date basis.

Positive contributors to performance included US listed pharmaceutical company Eli Lilly (Compounding), which continues to see much excitement around their new diabetes drug Mounjaro – already approved for diabetes – regulators are currently reviewing it as a treatment for obesity. In clinical trials, patients with obesity lost over 22% of their body weight. Mounjaro sales are ramping up, though have been hampered by supply constraints given the strong demand for the product. The drug has the potential to become the bestselling licensed drug of all time given its chronic use and wide addressable market. Japanese financial group Sumitomo Mitsui Financial Group – ‘Mature’ – posted earnings that exceeded expectations this year, helping to drive strong performance from the shares. There is a focus on improving returns on capital and managing costs. The company has several initiatives to execute on especially in overseas markets, though key is the consistency of the attractive returns in the domestic market. The company continues to offer an attractive valuation pay-off. Korean bank KB Financial, in the Mature part of the corporate Life Cycle, performed strongly over the period. The company announced quarterly results that were ahead of expectations as interest margins and fee income improved.

HCA Healthcare the US hospital and clinic operator in the Compounding segment of the Life Cycle, declined over the quarter. During the period the company announced Q2 results that were ahead of expectations and raised guidance for the full year. We continue to have a positive view on the wealth creation that the company can generate at the corporate level. TSMC (Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company) the world's largest fabricator of semiconductors declined over the period following a strong run earlier in the year. Capital expenditure expectations continue to increase as there is strong demand for semiconductor fabrication capacity driven by customers such as Nvidia. The company is in the Slowing & Maturing Life Cycle category.

Fund activity

We believe that business fundamentals are the long-term drivers of stock prices. However, we recognise that different fundamentals matter at different points of a company's life, and that these are often unappreciated or misunderstood by the market. Our approach therefore aims to identify and exploit these inefficiencies, identifying stocks that we believe have superior shareholder wealth creation potential, at attractive prices. During the quarter, the team continued to manage the portfolio in line with the investment guidelines.

Market commentary

Equity markets made losses over the period under review on fears that policy will remain tighter for longer than expected, which saw equities drop to their lowest levels since early June. The quarter also saw a market rotation with the best performing sector being the fossil fuel-based energy sector, which had underperformed in prior quarters, and the information technology sector giving back some gains, having been the best performing sector year-to-date. For the third quarter, MSCI World and MSCI All Countries World Index (ACWI – which also includes 26 emerging markets) produced negative returns for the quarter in US dollar terms. Looking at national MSCI indices, the strongest market was Japan, while the weakest was Eastern Europe. In terms of style, the MSCI World Growth Index produced weaker returns versus the MSCI World Value Index.

The price of Brent crude oil soared by 24.7%, to $92.20 a barrel. Copper futures also declined a further 1.5% in dollar terms on the back of warning signs emerging of a weakening in global demand as China's economic rebound stalls.

The US dollar appreciated by 3.1% against the yen, by 2.96% against the euro, and by 4% against sterling. On a translational basis, sterling's strength against the dollar impacts sterling investors in overseas assets as it lowers the returns over the quarter. However, the weaker dollar will benefit any emerging markets countries and companies that have borrowed in dollars.

The third quarter was characterised by mixed data around the world, with central banks coming towards the end of their rate hiking path, but with cuts still seemingly a while away. The global economic picture is rosier now than it was at the start of the year, but global growth is spluttering again amid a disappointing bounce in China activity, slow-to-no growth in Europe and against a backdrop of restrictive monetary policy. The US still looks at risk of recession too, even if activity data to date has been fairly robust.

Inflation has fallen significantly and, although higher energy prices threaten a widespread revival in headline inflation, other factors – including a weak economic activity backdrop – should pull inflation lower still. With taming inflation still the priority for central banks, there is still a possibility of further rate hikes from the Federal Reserve (Fed), European Central Bank (ECB) and Bank of England (BoE), but peak rates look to be near, with real rates now well into positive territory.

Risks and Warnings

Investment Risk

The value of investments and any income from them may go down as well as up and is not guaranteed. Investors may not get back the amount invested.

Concentration risk

The price of Funds that invest in a reduced number of holdings, sectors, or geographical areas may be more heavily affected by events that influence the stockmarket and therefore more volatile.

EPM Techniques

The Fund may engage in EPM techniques including holdings of derivative instruments. Whilst intended to reduce risk, the use of these instruments may expose the Fund to increased price volatility.

Exchange Rate Risk

Changes in currency exchange rates may affect the value of your investment.

Liquidity Risk

In difficult market conditions the value of certain fund investments may be difficult to value and harder to sell, or sell at a fair price, resulting in unpredictable falls in the value of your holding.

Emerging Markets Risk

Investing in Emerging Markets may provide the potential for greater rewards but carries greater risk due to the possibility of high volatility, low liquidity, currency fluctuations, the adverse effect of social, political and economic instability, weak supervisory structures and accounting standards.

Counterparty Risk

The insolvency of any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, may expose the Fund to financial loss.

Responsible Investment Risk

The Fund can only invest in holdings that demonstrate compliance with certain sustainable indicators or ESG characteristics. This reduces the number securities in which the Fund can invest and there may as a result be occasions where it forgoes more strongly performing investment opportunities, potentially underperforming non-sustainable funds.
